

The end of justice isn't a caution and discharge. This will serve as a deterrent to intending criminals like the convict. The end of justice isn't going to be a caution and discharge, as the defendant needs to be deterred from further commission of such an offence